

Know Your Fish

To help anglers with the sometimes knotty problem of identifying what they've caught, the Game and Parks Commission has published a laymen's guide to fish identification. Entitled "The Fishes of Nebraska", the publication is available free from the Commission, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebr., 68503.

Boating

For complete information about boat registration, open waters, closed waters, restricted waters, safety regulations, required lighting, navigation rules, and special regulations for regattas, races, and water shows, consult the 1972 Guide to NEBRASKAland Boating. These handbooks are available from most boat dealers, marinas, and all Game Commission offices.

Pollution Reporting

Time is of the essence in determining the causes of fish kills or other pollution problems. Sometimes it is impossible to trace the sources of such accidents, if an investigator cannot be on the scene at the time of the occurrence or shortly thereafter.

Anyone observing a fish kill or pollution hazard should report it immediately to any Game and Parks Commission office or to Wes Sheets, Game and Parks Commission pollution specialist, at the headquarters office in Lincoln (402) 434-0641. Reports may also be made to conservation officers. District office locations and telephone numbers, as well as investigating authorities, include: District I, Alliance, (308) 762-5605, Jack Peterson; District II, Bassett, (402) 684-3511, J. Larry Hutchinson; District III, Norfolk, (402) 371-4950, Allan Carson; District IV, North Platte, (308) 532-6225, Monte Madsen; and District V, (402) 434-0641, Jim Johnson. Observers could also refer the data to the Water Quality Surveillance and Enforcement Section of the Department of Environmental Control (402) 471-2186.

The Department of Environmental Control has set up a 24-hour answering service to handle such calls after hours and on weekends. The center number is (402) 477-7917.

MASTER ANGLER AWARD

If you catch a big fish, be sure to have it checked and weighed. It may qualify for a Nebraska Master Angler Award. Contact any permit vendor, Game and Parks Commission office, or conservation officer for details and application forms.
